DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,917,632 to Lesesky.

3. Regarding Claim 1, Lesesky describes an optical signal coupling (20) for coupled two vehicles with a first coupling part (21) directly fixed to one vehicle and a second coupling part (31) directly fixed to the other vehicle, between which optical signals are transmitted, where the first coupling part has a sending device (61) that creates the optical signals and the second coupling part has a receiving device (75) that detects the optical signals. (See Figs 1-3 and Columns 5-8).

4. Regarding Claim 17, Lesesky describes a conductive coupling (20) for connection of two vehicles with a first contact carrier (21) connected to one vehicle and a second contact carrier (31) connected to the other vehicle, where one coupling part has a sending device (61) in one contact carrier that creates the optical signals and the second coupling part has a receiving device (75) in the second contact carrier that detects the optical signals. (See Figs 1-3 and Columns 5-8).

5. Lesesky does not specifically describe the optical coupling for use with two rail vehicles. However the limitations describing rail vehicles describe the intended use for the device and are not given any patentable weight.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 10-12 and 14 are allowed. Claims 10-12 and 14 describe the light opaque sleeves as being electrically conducting and that upon pressing together the ends of the light conducting elements of the coupling parts an electrical contact is established.

7. This subject matter, in combination with the other limitations described in the Claims, is not described or reasonably suggested by the prior art.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 1 December 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

9. Applicant's argues that the device of Lesesky does not describe the first coupling part fixed to a vehicle. The Examiner notes that a vehicle may be interpreted to include all of its various appendages and attachments, including the hose described by Lesesky. Under such an interpretation, the device of Lesesky describes a first coupling part fixed to the vehicle.

10. Applicant also argues that the Lesesky does not describe the coupling used between two rail vehicles. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. The structure of Lesesky is capable of use with rail vehicles, and therefore meets the limitations of the present claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

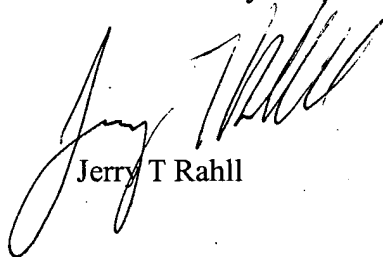

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
